

Gently Think And Speak

G

1. Gen - tly think, and gen - tly speak, Art thou strong? re - spect the weak;
2. He who know the thoughts of men, Gen - tle was; O let us then
3. Rain and dews, and sun - shine fall, With un - bound - ed love, on all;
4. Thou be gen - tle, O my soul, Thoughts and words a - like con - trol;

Art thou weak? from what thou art Gen - tly burn an - oth - er's heart.
Care - ful be in thought and tone, We, who scarce can read our own.
Shall my nar - row heart re - fuse Its poor sun, and rain, and dews?
If thou must in aught de - cide, Err up - on the gen - tle side.
