

Lo, As The Potter Molds His Clay

B $\flat$ /F - SOL

p Largo

1. Lo, as the pot - ter molds his clay, Shap - ing and
 2. E'en as the ma - son laws the stone, And one is
 3. Lo, as a - midst the fier - y glow The smith his
 4. Lo, as the sil - ver sev'n times tried Is in the form - ing it from day to day, Thus in Thy hand, O carved and wrought, and shat - tered one, Thus in Thy hand, O i - ron forg - es, blow on blow, Thus in Thy hand, O smel - ter's fur - nace pu - ri - fied, Thus in Thy hand, O

Lord, are we, O Thou whose mer - cies nev - er pass a - way.
 Lord, are we, Thou who of life and death art Lord a - lone.
 Lord, are we, O Thou who sav - est those by care laid low.
 Lord, are we, O Thou, who balm and heal - ing scat - t'rest wide.

Elsie Davis,

Tr. from the Hebrew of R. Meir b. Barneth of Rothenburg

PDHymns.com

Traditional "Ki hinne kahmer"